New Hampshire DECA is a vocational student organization for individuals who are planning careers in marketing and management and are enrolled in vocational marketing education programs. New Hampshire DECA has approximately 600 members with five divisions. At the high school level, 19 high schools and vocational centers have DECA chapters. The goals of DECA are to develop leadership abilities, social and business etiquette, civic responsibility, ethical behavior in business relationships and to understand the role of the free enterprise system in a global economy. The National High School Division of DECA includes 185,000 members in 5,000 schools.

DECA prepares emerging leaders and entrepreneurs in marketing, finance, hospitality and management in high schools and colleges around the globe. Students compete at the state and national level in role plays and written events in a variety of business categories. DECA also promotes community service.

DECA enhances the preparation for college and careers by providing co-curricular programs that integrate into classroom instruction, applying learning in the context of business, connecting to business and the community and promoting competition. Our student members leverage their DECA experience to become academically prepared, community oriented, professionally responsible, experienced leaders.
